PROPOSALS

For Publishing, by Subscription,

THE COMPLETE WORKS OF

SIR WALTER SCOTT:

With a Biography: being the first American (and only) edition which contains the Author's last additions and illustrations, arranged upon their respective pages.

A COMPLETE and uniform edition of the various productions of the great 'Minstrel of the North,' is a desideratum with the American public. No library is complete without them, and no edition extant is sufficiently compact for such a repository; while the endless number of editions, without any uniformity in size, heretofore published, besides being exceedingly cumbrous, are far too voluminous and expensive to be within the reach of the great majority of readers. The undersigned therefore announce, that they have now in press, and will issue, an edition of the Works of Sir Walter Scott, which will embrace all his Poems, Novels, Histories, Biographies, and Fugitive Compositions, as well as the Biography and Private Correspondence, now in the course of publication in England, under the superintendence of Mr. Lockhart.

1st. In Parts: each Part embracing as much matter as is contained in two volumes of the present editions of the Waverley Novels, which will be put at the unprecedented low price of THIRTY SEVEN AND A HALF CENTS.

2d. Two parts will appear each month; but should the publishers find the work to meet the patronage they anticipate, FOUR PARTS will be issued monthly.

3d. The whole will be completed in seven volumes, or forty eight parts.

The paper on which the above is now printing, has been made expressly for the purpose; the present parts may, therefore, be considered a fair specimen, in every respect, of the whole work; but, should dissatisfaction arise with any subscriber, owing to an inferior article being offered, he may discontinue at any time, and have the amount paid returned.

Note.—The publication of the first volume is deferred until the receipt of the Biography, Private Correspondence, and the New Edition of the Author's Poetical Works, with contemporary criticism—various readings—and correspondence with some of the most eminent persons of the time when the Poems first appeared,' now in the course of publication in England.

Volume 1 will be ornamented with an excellent Portrait of Sir Walter Scott.

JOB PRINTING

EXECUTED, with neatness and despatch, at the Office of the PITTSBURGH GAZETTE. April 26

DAILY PITTSBURGH GAZETTE.

SATURDAY AFTERNOON, AUGUST 31, 1833.

We presume the senior editor of the Advocate has arrived among us, although this event has not been announced in that paper. We judge so from the fact that a reply, almost a finger long, has appeared in that paper, of this morning, to our correction of his article about the burning down of the board yard. It is true, that the article appears as the production of the junior editor, but we presume it could not have been written by him, because it is now a week since our article was published, and that young man would hardly spend six days and seven nights in writing nineteen lines.

The writer of this article very sagaciously asks "what is the difference between a board yard and any other yard?" The question is rather vague—"any other yard" is very indefinite. If he means a "yard measure," we reply that the one is just three feet long, without breadth, the other may be of various lengths and breadths. The writer says:

"Is it not the using of a piece of ground, for the piling and safe keeping of boards, that constitutes a board yard? and, when those boards shall all be taken away, or burnt up, is that yard any longer a board yard?"

If this were true, it would not help the editor of the Advocate, and would not prove that the board yard was burnt down, although the boards were. But it is not the using, but the "dedication," as a lawyer would say, that makes the yard.—Several of the inn keepers, in this city, and along our turnpikes, have "wagon yards," in which there are, very frequently, no wagons.—In our steam boats, we have often heard persons say, there is no wood at such a "wood yard."

And if a piece of ground were purchased, and intended for a grave yard, it would be a grave yard, although, by the good fortune of the proprietors, it might be years before there was a grave in it.

But even if it were true, that burning down all the boards would be a burning down of the board yard, that would not help our neighbor, because his article expressly stated that only "two thirds of the board yard" was burnt down.

MR. JEFFERSON AND MAZZEI.—In the Advocate, of this morning, there is a communication, signed "An Old Democrat," (no doubt written by the senior editor himself,) containing an extract from a letter of Mr. Jefferson to Dr. Rush, in which he accuses some of his opponents of "forging conversations for me with Mazzei," &c. We know not whether this communication is intended to have any reference to the recent controversy between the editor of the Advocate and ourselves—if it has, we will merely observe, that this letter only denies the correctness of certain alleged conversations with Mazzei. It does not pretend to deny the correctness of the letter to Mazzei, to which we referred, some time ago, which is published in the third volume of Mr. Jefferson's letters, page 327, and which he admits to be authentic, in his letter to Mr. Madison, page 362, of the same volume.

The following is an extract from the concluding paragraph of the communication in the Advocate:

"These 'forged' conversations with Mazzei, were much relied upon, by the enemies of Mr. Jefferson, at the time the forgeries were committed—and notwithstanding they are declared forgeries by Mr. Jefferson himself, they are still referred to by those who, hyena like, pursue his memory."

We repeat, we know not whether this is intended to refer to us, or whether it is intended to lead the readers of that paper on a wrong track. If the latter is the design, we can only say that it will not succeed—we have never said one word about the 'conversations of Mazzei'—we know nothing about the conversations—they are too uncertain, in any report of them, and depend too much upon mere memory, to be the subjects of controversy at this late day. The letter, is, however, a different affair, that stands, indisputably correct, among his own letters, published by his own order.

The writer of the communication in the Advocate, says—

"It is true that, as to Religion, Mr. Jefferson acknowledges himself a Unitarian."

We do not pretend to understand, precisely, the doctrines of the Unitarians—but we doubt whether the light ribaldry which he applied to the miraculous conception, would entitle him to a place among them.

For the Gazette.

MR. EDITOR—The subject of traveling in stage coaches is one in which so many persons are interested, that the following extract may not be inappropriate, in calling the attention of Stage Proprietors and Road Surveyors to the points to which it refers. It is from an article on modern traveling, in England, contained in the London Quarterly Review; and although the following remarks apply more immediately to traveling in this section of country, the whole article is worthy of attention from general and professional readers. Who, that has crossed our mountains, but can bear witness to the plain sense of the last part of this extract, and to the great necessity for its more general adoption?

In the hope that a word to the wise will be sufficient, its insertion in the Gazette is respectfully requested:—

"Do the proprietors guard against accidents to the very extent of their ability? We fear not: too many of them, to touch only one point, allow their coachmen to omit the use of the hand or end buckle to their reins, which, to our own knowledge, has lately been productive of innumerable accidents. This is new, and it is a mere piece of affectation, and should be put a stop to; for surely if a coachman fancies he has not time to 'pin his ribbons' before mounting the box, he can do so after having proceeded a short distance on his stage; and he cannot say he has not time to unbuckle them before he comes to the end of it. It is evident, that with reins unbuckled at the ends, should either of them drop out of his hand, all command over his team is gone. Moreover, in the hands of the best coachman, a wheel horse will now and then drop, and should he not, fortunately in this case, be dragged on the ground, so as to stop the coach, up he jumps, and expecting the whip, rushes forward with his head loose, his rein having been drawn through the coachman's hand. Had it been buckled at the end, such an occurrence could not have happened; and if, after our warning, damages are sought for on this score, coach proprietors may depend upon it, they must be prepared to smart.

"That, in fact, nineteen accidents in twenty, are the effect of want of proper precaution, cannot be denied. Coachmen, it is true, are not theoretical philosophers, but experience teaches them, that if they drive fast round corners, the centre of gravity must be more or less disturbed by thus diverging from the right line; and if lost, over she goes; yet a great number of the overturns that occur, happen exactly in this way. Why then are not coachmen strictly enjoined by their employers to avoid so gross an error? But it is in descending hills that the majority of catastrophes take place; and the coachman needs not learning to enlighten him as to the wherefore. Let him only throw up a stone, and watch its descent. If it falls sixteen feet in the first second, it will fall three times that distance in the next, and so on. Thus it is with his coach; the continued impulse it acquires in descending a hill, presses upon the wheel horses, until at last it exceeds their powers of resistance. In short, they have a new force to contend with at every step they take. But this is not all—Instead of checking the active force of his coach before she begins to move downwards, he too often adds that to the fresh impulse she acquires on her descent. Every coachman, who has a regard to the safety of his own neck, should check the velocity of his coach at the top of every hill; which, in the language of the road, is termed 'taking a hill in time.' He may, in that case, if his harness be sound, drive his coach down any hill, now found on our roads, with ease; and, when a certain way down it, may increase his pace, with perfect safety, to meet the opposing ground at the bottom. With heavily laden coaches, we prefer this to the drag chain—by which hundreds of them have been pulled over—and which is a great cheek to speed, too, as the momentum cannot be taken advantage of, in continuing the motion of the coach when she brings the horses to their collars again.

"It has been suggested to road surveyors, that, if they would leave a narrow slip of loose gravel on the near side of severe hills, or those of only moderate declivity, where the fall is a long one, and the road hard, it would save innumerable accidents in the course of the year, as the moment a coachman found his coach was getting the better of his horses—or should any part of his tackle give way, he could run her into the gravel, and her velocity would be almost instantly checked. If placed on the near, or left hand side of the road, it would not inconvenience carriages ascending the hills, and the attention of a laborer, about every third day, to keep the gravel in its place, would obviate every difficulty. Likewise, it is desirable that roads should be raised a little to meet a coach, as it were, in the turns, especially such as are at the bottom of a hill. For example, if the turn is to the right, the left side of the road should be highest, so as to give support to a coach, in preserving her centre of gravity. Be it remembered, that, if the body of a coach could be made to lock with the carriage, she would go round a corner at full speed, without danger; but as that cannot be done, too much precaution cannot be used when turning her from the line. Only a few years back, the Kingston and Worcester mail was upset in going round a turn, where the road was in an opposite form to the one we have just pointed out, when, according to evidence produced, she was going at the rate of only six miles in the hour. The effects of this accident were dreadful. In one respect, however, roads are more safe than they were, being no longer rounded in the middle, which caused the overthrow of many coaches in the act of crossing them, and the ruin of many coach horses, by straining them in the fetlock joint.

NAPLES AND TUNIS.

Our Minister of Foreign Affairs has received advice from Chevalier Girardi, Consul General at Tunis, stating that some of our subjects who were in the service of the Regent, have been cruelly beaten by order of an officer of the Bey; that the Consul having made a representation of the same, instead of obtaining any satisfaction, received only an insolent answer, no wise corresponding with the dignity of our sovereign, who, naturally abhorring every kind of cruelty, could not, without shuddering, hear of the sufferings of his beloved subjects, and immediately ordered a squadron to be sent to Tunis, to demand satisfaction and to humble the pride of the African, by putting an end to atrocities, which renewed the memory of the barbarous times of slavery, so contrary to modern civilization. In the mean time, advice was received that the Sardinian flag was treated with very little respect by the Tunisians, contrary to the existing convention; so his Majesty thought proper to unite his forces with those of the king of Sardinia, his friend and relative, to prevent the repetition of cruelties on their subjects by the Tunisian and other Barbary regencies.

Unexpectedly were seen flying in the road of Tunis, the Siculo-Sardan flags of the squadron, consisting of the frigate Regina Isabella, corvette bombardier L'Etna, corvette Cristena, schooner Il Lampo, brig Principe Carlo, and brig Zefiro, of Naples, together with four Sardinian frigates, a corvette, brig, and schooner, from Sardinia.

It was delightful to behold the emulation of the allied squadron in effecting the glorious object of their expedition, for the prosperous termination of which, both Governments displayed such foresight, activity, and equipment.

Simultaneously was despatched to that Regency, the Commissioner Don Marino Caracciolo dei Principi di Torchiarolo, with instructions to make known that the provocation was on the part of the Bey; and to employ every mode of conciliation and peace, before having recourse to hostilities.

At this moment, whilst we were waiting the result of the expedition, the schooner Il Lampo drops anchor in the bay, bringing the joyous intelligence that all the differences were adjusted, in a manner most honorable to the Siculo-Sardan Allies. The Bey had solemnly declared, not only verbally, but in writing, that he had misunderstood the expressions of the Sicilian Consul, and had never intended any offence to his Majesty, of whose friendship he was always solicitous: and that he was sending an Embassador Extraordinary to our Court, to dissipate all doubts from his Majesty's mind, and to confirm the sentiments of future harmony, by convincing him that he never intended to act contrary to the existing treaties. In fine, if any Neapolitans in his service, should henceforward commit any crime, he would order them to be delivered to the Consul for punishment, conformably to the laws of their own country.

All gratitude is due to our Sovereign for having omitted no means for the honor of the Neapolitan name, and for the protection of his people.

With pleasure we announce that the disputes between the Bey and the Sardinian Government have been settled to the satisfaction of the latter. Our squadron has just returned into port. By it we learn that the Bey ordered a vessel to be equipped to convey his Ambassador to this country.

PUNISHMENT IN CHINA.

Perhaps the most dreadful punishments are inflicted in the "Celestial Empire," and crimes are probably here committed more frequently than in any other country.

For murder of a parent or near relative, or for rebellion, the prisoner is made to undergo a punishment called Ling-che, which is performed by cutting him to pieces by degrees, commencing at the feet or hands. In case he has any relative who can bribe the executioner, the torture may be abridged, and his sufferings cease, by piercing to the heart; at times, this may be done for a small sum. Another punishment for the same offence is the following:—

The culprit is fastened with his back to a large cross, placed in the ground, with his hands and feet so tied that he cannot move an inch in any direction. An incision is then made across the forehead, and the skin pulled down over the eyes and face; then the feet, hands, legs, arms, and head, are successively cut off from the trunk, which is finally pierced to the heart. Beheading is a punishment for adultery, murder, &c. The prisoner is made to kneel (in some public place, but not exposed on a scaffold) towards the throne of the "Son of Heaven," and, as if returning thanks for the punishment about to be received, he bows, and, while raising his head, it is struck off, by one blow of a sword; the head is then put into a cage, sent to the place where the crime was committed, and hung at the end of a pole, or against a wall. The men employed in this service are very expert and strong, and go to their work with as much composure as a butcher to the slaughter. Prisoners are often, after being confined some time in gaol, let loose and branded on the forehead with a hot iron, so that they will be known wherever they go. For stealing, the perpetrator of the crime is dragged through the streets by a party of soldiers, who alternately lash him with a thong of plaited rattans on the bare back, and beat a large gong to give the people notice, that they may witness the punishment. In some cases, the knees and ancles are compressed in iron machines made for the purpose; this is extremely painful. There is no punishment more common and unmercifully executed than that of whipping. Smuggling saltpetre into the country, from which powder may be manufactured, is punished by decapitation.—Strangling is also a very common punishment.—The criminal is tied to a strong, upright stake, with his hands and feet fastened: a stout cord is then put round his neck, and passed through a hole pierced in the stake. A stick of about 1 1-2 inch in diameter, is attached to the cord, and the executioner standing behind him wrenches it around. The eyes soon start from their sockets, and the tongue is seen issuing from the mouth, which foams and bleeds excessively; finally, the neck is cut through by the cord, and the head falls to the ground. No cap or covering of any kind is placed over the face during the execution.

The following crimes, which should come as well under the cognizance of the law as others, are very leniently punished.

A grandfather or grandmother killing a grandchild, a father or mother wilfully murdering their son or daughter, and a master or mistress putting to death a domestic slave, are only punished with 60 to 70 blows, and, should they wish to lay the murder falsely on some other person, the punishment is but 80 blows, and three years transportation.

LATER FROM TURKEY.

A slip from Boston, furnishes us, via Malta, with intelligence from Constantinople to the 15th of June. A great portion of the letter from which the following paragraph is taken, relates to periods of which we have received previous and better authenticated accounts:

"By the arrival of an English schooner at this place, which left Constantinople on the 15th June, we learn that the Emperor of Russia had annulled the peace which has been lately made between the Sultan and Pacha of Egypt; that a body of fifteen thousand Russians were on their march for Constantinople; that transports were daily arriving with soldiers; that there was a fleet of thirty three men of war, and an army of thirty one thousand men already encamped. This is the latest information we have from the capital, and possibly may be correct."

Although this is indeed a week later than our previous dates from the Turkish capital, yet it is in the main so entirely at variance with the whole scope of our intelligence from every quarter, that it is with some degree of hesitation that we can go so far as the writer in admitting even that it "possibly may be correct."

The Russian Government has taken measures to establish steam navigation on the Caspian Sea. The Prussian State Gazette, under the head of Odessa, June 22, announces the arrival of the Langeron transport, from Constantinople, with the first detachment of the sick, in consequence of the approaching return of the Russian fleet and army from Turkey.

The Emperor Nicholas has issued an edictal summons, through Lieut. Gen. Sulina, President of the Supreme Criminal Court, requiring the appearance of all those Polish subjects who were excepted from his gracious amnesty, in order to await their trial, and in the event of their non appearance, the court would pass sentence upon them in contumaciam. Two hundred and eighty six names are contained in the list.

The London Standard gives the annexed information from Russia.

ST. PETERSBURGH, July 4.

"The long expected interview between the King of Prussia and the Emperor of Russia, is soon to take place, and the political coteries now have nothing else for their subject. The affairs of Poland will be the immediate object of their conferences, and already every thing is prepared by the Cabinets for the termination of affairs relative to that country. The Polish question has for six months occupied the diplomatists of Berlin, St. Petersburgh, and Vienna, and the greatest secrecy has been preserved on the state of the negotiations.

"As these events are now drawing to a close, there is a little less secrecy, and I now announce to you a fact which has not been known, at least officially, either by France or England.

"On the 20th of May last, a treaty was concluded by the three northern courts respecting the question of Poland, as a question private to them alone, and with which no other power has a right to interfere. This idea is supported by the treaty, which, in one of its articles, declares that the three powers will oppose the interference of any other power in this affair; and at the same time, to attach the cabinets of Berlin and Vienna to the execution of this treaty, Russia promises in the next article to unite with the two other courts in any step they may take towards the government of Poland. This treaty, signed at Berlin, has been followed by very active negotiations on this basis between the three courts. The cabinet of Berlin wishes, among other things, that the confiscated property in Poland, shall not for the future be the exclusive profit of the crown, which has been the case up to the present moment. It demands that a part of this property should be given to the Russian nobility, on condition that they live in Poland, in order to support the tranquillity of that country. It is thought that this proposition, which has for its end, to render the incorporation of Poland with Russia more easy, has been proposed by the cabinet of St. Petersburgh to Prussia, which in this case would be urged on to obtain the consent of Austria to any measure which would favor the incorporation. The treaty will be executed when the interview between the Emperor and King takes place.

"The Emperor is in constant communication with Prague, and he lately sent to Charles the Tenth, by M. de Tatischeff, a sum of 800,000 francs of French money; he has also secured a pension to the Due d'Angouleme, and another sum destined for the education of the Duke of Bordeaux."

CURIOUS RECORD.

Mr. Madden, in his work, entitled the Infirmities of Genius Illustrated, presents us with a curious record of the average influence of different studies, on the longevity of those engaged in them. The Record consists of a tabular arrangement, in which are several series of the most celebrated authors in the various departments of intellectual labor. Twenty persons are included in each list; the names and ages of each are given, and from the united amount of the latter is taken the average age to which the members of each of the classes survive. The first table includes natural philosophers, whose names and ages are as follows:—

Bacon (Roger,) 78; Buffon, 81; Copernicus, 70; Cuvier, 64; Davy, 51; Euler, 76; Franklin, 85; Galileo, 78; Dr. Halley, 86; Herschell, 84; Kepler, 60; Lalande, 75; Laplace, 77; Lewenhoeck, 91; Leibnitz, 70; Linnæus, 72; Newton, 84; Tychobrahe, 55; Whiston, 95; Wollaston, 62.

The second table is that of poets,—Ariosto, 59; Burns, 38; Byron, 37; Camoens, 55; Collins, 56; Cowley, 49; Cowper, 69; Dante, 56; Dryden, 70; Goldsmith, 44; Gray, 57; Metastasio, 84; Milton, 66; Petrarch, 68; Pope, 56; Shenstone, 50; Spencer, 46; Tasso, 52; Thompson, 48; Young, 84.

The contents of the remaining tables are as follow:

MORAL PHILOSOPHERS—Bacon, 65; Bayley, 59; Berkeley (G.,) 79; Condorcet, 51; Condillac, 65; Descartes, 54; Diderot, 71; Ferguson, (A.) 92; Fichte, (J. T.,) 52; Hartley, (D.,) 52; Helvetius, 57; Hobbes, 91; Hume, 65; Kant, 80; Kames, 86; Locke, 72; Malebranche, 77; Reid (T.,) 86; Stewart (D.) 75; St. Lambert, 88.

DRAMATISTS—Alfieri, 55; Corneille, 78; Goethe, 82; Massinger, 55; Marlow, 32; Otway, 34; Racine, 60; Schiller, 46; Shakspeare, 52; Voltaire, 84; Congreve, 59; Colman, (G.) 61; Crebillon, 89; Cumberland, 80; Farquhar, 30; Goldoni, 85; Jonson, (B.,) 63; Lope de Vega, 73; Moliere, 53; Murphy, 78.

AUTHORS ON LAW AND JURISPRUDENCE.—Bentham, 85; Blackstone, 57; Butler (C.,) 83; Coke, 85; Erskine, 73; Filangieri, 36; Gifford, 48; Grotius, 63; Hale, 68; Holt, 68; Littleton, 75; Mansfield, 88; Montesquieu, 66; Redesdale, 82; Romily, 61; Rolle 68; Tenderden, 78; Thurlow, 74; Vattel, 53; Wilmot, 83.

MISSELLANEOUS AND NOVEL WRITERS.—Cervantes, 70; Le Sage, 80; Scott, 62; Fielding, 47; Smollett, 51; Rabelais, 70; Defoe, 70; Ratcliffe, 60; Richardson, 72; Sterne, 56; Johnson, 75; Addison, 48; Wharton, 78; Steele, 59; Tickell, 54; Montaign, 60; Bathurst, (R.) 84; Thornton, 44; Hawkesworth, 59; Hazlitt, 58.

AUTHORS ON REVEALED RELIGION.—Baxter, 76; Bellarmine, 84; Butler, (John) 60; Bossuet, 77; Calvin, 56; Chillingworth, 43; Doddridge, 54; Fox, (G.) 67; Knox, (John) 67; Lowth. 77; Luther, 63; Massillon, 79; Melancthon, 64; Paley, 63; Portetus, 77; Priestley, 71; Sherlock, 67; Wesley, 88; Whitefield, 56; Wycliff, 61.

AUTHORS ON NATURAL RELIGION.—Annett, 55; Bollingbroke, 79; Cardan, 75; Chubb, 65; Drummond, (Sir W.,) 68; Dupuis, 67; Freret, (N.,) 61; Gibbon, 58; Herbert, (Lord) 68; Jacobi, 56; Paine, 72; Pomponatius, 63; Rosseau, 66; Spinoza, 45; St. Pierre, 77; Shaftsbury, 42; Tindal, 75; Toland, 53; Vanini, 34; Volney, 66.

MEDICAL AUTHORS—Brown, (J.) 54; Corvisart, 66; Cullen, 78; Darwin, 72; Fordyce, 67; Fothergill, 69; Gall, 71; Gregory (John,) 48; Harvey, 81; Heberden, 92; Hoffman, 83; Hunter (J.,) 65; Hunter (W.) 66; Jenner, 75; Mason Good, 64; Parcelsus, 43; Pinel, 84; Sydenham, 66; Tissot, 70; Willis (T.,) 54.

PHILOLOGISTS—Bentley, 81; Burton, 64; Casaubon, 55; Cheke, 44; Hartzheim, 70; Harman (J.,) 77; Heyne, 84; Lipsius, 60; Parr, 80; Pauw, 61; Pighius, 84; Porson, 50; Raphelengius, 59; Salmatius, 66; Scaliger (J. J.,) 69; Sigonius, 60; Stephens (H.,) 71; Sylburgious, 51; Vossius, 73; Wolfius, 64.

ARTISTS—Bandinelli, 72; Bernini, 82; Canova, 65; Donatello, 83; Flaxman, 71; Chiberti, 64; Giotto, 60; Michael Angelo, 96; San Sovino, 91; Verocchio, 56; Caracci (A.,) 49; Claude, 82; David, 76; Guido, 67; Raphael, 37; Reynolds, 69; Salvator Rosa, 58; Titian, 96; Veronese (Paul,) 56; West, 82.

MUSICAL COMPOSERS—Arne, 68; Bach, 66; Beethoven, 57; Burney, 88; Bull, 41; Cimarosa, 41; Corelli, 60; Gluck, 75; Gretry, 72; Handel, 75; Haydn, 77; Kalkbrenner, 51; Keiser, 62; Martini, 78; Mozart, 36; Paisello, 75; Piccini, 71; Porpore, 78; Scarlatti, 78; Weber, 40.

The result, then, that we derive from these tables is, that natural philosophers have the longest lease of existence, the united ages of the twenty enumerated being 1504 years, which gives an average of 75 for each. The results in the other cases with respect to the united ages, and the average each, are—Moral philosophers, united ages, 1417—average of the life of each, 70; sculptors and painters, 1412—70; authors on law and jurisprudence, 1394—69; medical authors, 1368—68; authors on revealed religion, 1350—67; philologists, 1323—66; musical composers, 1284—64; novelists and miscellaneous authors, 1257—62 1-2; dramatists, 1249—62; authors on natural religion, 1245—62; poets, 1144—57. According to the results of this calculation, it would appear that those mental labors in which the imagination is most actively employed are least conducive to long life.—Other conclusions with respect to different occupations are drawn by Mr. Madden, who seems to be of opinion, that an exact scale may be laid down, by which the particular occupation of any person being given, the probable length of his life may be determined.

Is not the office of President of the United States as sacred, important, and exalted a trust, as any political magistracy ever known? Does it not claim, as such, and by the duties assigned to it in the Constitution, talents, knowledge, and public virtue fully ascertained, and the highest attainable? Can any citizen, consistently with true patriotism, co-operate in giving it to a secondary or doubtful man; or in rendering it the premium of intrigue and management, or of sectional spirit, or mere party combinations and designs?—Are not the American people depositories of the cause of republican and representative government, federal and national, not for their prosperity alone, but for mankind? Cannot the great body of the reflecting and disinterested portion of them be prompted to conscientious action alone at the polls, and rallied to some candidate of the highest order; setting aside all local views and jealousies, and all the old party distinctions?—Nat. Gaz.

The improved carriage, for the removal of furniture or other goods, liable to injury, is likely to find full employment for the proprietors, whose advertisement appears in an other column. It is constructed with easy springs, for the express purpose of avoiding the concussions which articles conveyed in vehicles without them are subject to in passing over rough stone pavements. Carriages of this description are said to be in very general use in Philadelphia.—Balt. Amer.

The Nullifiers mean, it is said, to make in Congress, next winter, three grand efforts:—they are to move—the repeal of the Enforcing Act; a censure on the main principles of the Proclamation of last year; and some amendment to the Constitution, by which further protection may be given to property in negro slaves.—Nat. Gaz.

It is stated, in the New York Courier, that the specie at present in the vaults of the Bank of the United States amounts to eleven millions of dollars—that the bank has five millions in Europe, and that the whole amount of specie in the United States does not exceed twenty three millions.

It is stated, in the Albany Daily Advertiser, that the command of Don Miguel's fleet was recently offered to an American, calling himself Henry Jones. On inspecting the vessels, top and bottom, he declined the intended honor.

Flogged for nothing.—Jeffrey was considered the author of the celebrated criticism, in the Edinburg Review, which contains so fierce an attack on Lord Byron's first production, the "Hours of Idleness." For this his lordship took Mr. Jeffrey to pieces in the "English Bards and Scotch Reviewers." It now turns out that Mr. Brougham, the present lord chancellor, was the author of the offensive criticism. It must have been vastly agreeable to Mr. Jeffrey to receive such a terrible drubbing, and to feel all the while that he did not deserve it.—Winchester Rep.

The New York Evening Post of Monday says:

The amount of capital invested in England in the cotton manufacture, is estimated at not less than fifteen millions of pounds sterling.

Carson, the Nullifier, has been beaten in N. Carolina by 800 votes.

The Brussels papers mentioned the departure from that city of Col. Wilmer, for the province of Limburgh, for the purpose of meeting Commissioners appointed by the Duch Government to fix the military line of each kingdom.

The Ech de la Frontiere relates the following marvelous anecdote:—"For several days past a pretty little gray horse has been driven about Brussels with glasses let into the winkers, bearing the appearance of a pair of spectacles, from the concave surface of which it may be presumed that the poor animal is near sighted.—We presume that we shall soon have veterinary opticians."

We have before us a table showing the levies of poor rates in several counties in England, and that for the year ending March 25, 1832. The gross amount was £8,622,920 4s. or nearly forty millions of dollars. Of this sum, Middlesex furnished five millions, and Yorkshire between four and five millions of dollars.—U. S. Gaz.

THE AMERICAN EXILE.

Thou'rt in a fairy clime, sweet one!
'Mid the bright and loveliest thou;
Yet a shade is o'er thy bosom cast,
And o'er thy sunny brow.

Dost thou pine for thine own, far distant land,
With its forests vast and drear,
For the wild bird's call o'er the clear blue lake,
And the bounding of the deer?

Or, weep'st thou for a Mother's form,
By thy lonely couch to kneel;
Or the holy kiss of a Father's love
On thy pale sweet brow to feel?

Both, both, though the wintry wind may sweep
O'er the forest in its pride;
Though the echo of each sweet note may cease
The ruffled lake beside.

Though the deer no more with its graceful step
O'er the sun clad hills may leap;
I pine, I pine, for that far, far shore,—
For my parents' voice I weep. ELLA.

MEDICAL COLLEGE OF OHIO.

THE Lectures in this Institution will commence, as usual, on the last Monday of October, and close in the last week in February.

MEDICAL FACULTY.

JEDEDIAH COBB, M. D., Professor of Anatomy and Physiology.

THOMAS D. MITCHELL, M. D., Professor of Chemistry and Pharmacy.

CHARLES E. PIERSON, M. D., Professor of Materia Medica.

JOHN MOORHEAD, M. D., Professor of Obstetrics and Diseases of Women and Children.

JOHN EBERLE, M. D., Professor of the Theory and Practice.

SAMUEL D. GROSS, M. D., Demonstrator of Anatomy.

ALEXANDER DENNISON, Librarian.

The cost of a full course of Lectures, being at the rate of $15 for each Ticket, and $3 for matriculation and the use of the Library, is $93. The graduation fee is $—. The Hospital Ticket is a separate charge of $5, which the Student may take, or omit, at pleasure.

The Trustees are zealously engaged in seeking a suitable person to supply the Chair of Surgery, rendered vacant by the death of the late Professor Staughton, and indulge a confident expectation of being able to procure, before the commencement of the Lectures, an accomplished and experienced man.

Paper Mill for Sale.

THE Extensive Establishment, known as the Soft Spring Paper Mill, now in the occupancy of C. Lukens & Co. is offered for sale.—Its situation is both desirable and healthy, possessing local advantages superior to any mill in the west, with a spring of pure, soft water, yielding a superabundance for all purposes—propelled by an engine sufficiently powerful, and to which has recently been added an entire New Machine for the manufacture of paper. Its location is about two miles from the city, on the Eastern Turnpike. The subscribers have no hesitation in believing it offers inducements to purchasers highly advantageous.

The terms will be rendered satisfactory, and but a small portion of the purchase money required at the time of sale, with an extended credit for the residue, being determined to make an early disposal. It will be sold low. Application made personally, or by communication, to either of the subscribers, will be attended to.

PROSPECT HILL

Literary & Scientific Institution.

PITTSBURGH, Pa.

ON the 1st of July, Mr. DANIEL STONE intends opening, near the City of Pittsburgh, an Institution for the instruction of boys. Its plan is to combine, as far as possible, the peculiar advantages of a domestic and public education.—The pupils, with the principal and assistants, will constitute one family, and be at all times under careful supervision. The Discipline will be mild, but strict, such as a father, solicitous for the welfare of his children, would exercise over them. It is believed that an appeal to reason, and the sense of honor and duty, will generally secure obedience. Coercive measures will, therefore, be adopted only in extreme cases.

The Course of Study will embrace the English, Latin, Greek, and French Languages; Arithmetic, Algebra, and Geometry; Geography and History—Ancient and Modern; Rhetoric, Composition, and Elocution; Natural Philosophy and Chemistry; Penmanship, Orthography, and Reading. Frequent examinations will be held, open to the friends and relations of the youths.

The Mode of Instruction will be thorough and critical, and no subject will be relinquished until fully understood. That the scholar's mind may become vigorous, active, and self-confident—prepared for the stern conflicts of life, and a fearless discharge of its duties, he will be encouraged to reason and decide for himself.

Each student will be required to attend such church as his parent or guardian shall designate.

To preserve health and elasticity of spirits, to check indolence, and promote industry among the students, they will be daily exercised in athletic sports.

Pupils will be admitted between the ages of Six and Sixteen. None can be received for less than one term.

The uniform Dress will consist of a cap, blue roundabout, with metal buttons, and blue pantaloons. Every article of clothing should be marked with the owner's name in full.

The Terms are two hundred dollars a year, payable quarterly in advance. This includes Tuition, Board, Lodging, Washing, Mending, Light, and Fuel.

The Vacations, after the present year, will be three—the 1st, of two weeks, from the 3d Wednesday in April; the 2d, of four weeks, from the 2d Wednesday in August; and one week at Christmas.

The Matron's department will be under the care of Mrs. Reynolds, of this city.

New Theatre, Pittsburgh.

THE Public is respectfully informed, that this ELEGANT NEW THEATRE, at present building, in Fifth Street, will be opened for the Season, under the management of the subscriber, with a Dramatic Company not surpassed by any in the Union, on Monday, the Second of September, 1833.

The building has been substantially erected, by those well known Mechanics, Messrs. Roseburg, Reynolds, Scott, & McCulloch, after a plan drawn by John Haviland, Esq., of Philadelphia, whose justly acquired fame as an Architect will be increased by the style and Beauty of the Present Edifice.

A first rate London Artist has been employed, for the last three months, in preparing the Dresses especially for this Theatre, which, in point of

ELEGANCE AND SPLENDOR,

Will equal, if not surpass those belonging to the Metropolitan Theatres of New York, or Philadelphia.

THE SCENERY

Has been designed and executed by Mr. J. R. Smith, a young Artist of great talent, and whose productions may challenge comparison with those of the most distinguished Scene Painters of the day.

THE MACHINERY

Has been entrusted to the care of Mr. Stafford, late of the Philadelphia Theatres, and the direction of the

MECHANICAL DEPARTMENT

Will be placed under the Superintendence of Mr. Hoffner, of the Chesnut Street Theatre, Philadelphia.

In addition to the exertions of the Regular Company, most of whom are advantageously known in the Eastern Theatres, the Manager has great pride and pleasure in informing the inhabitants of Pittsburgh and its vicinity, that he has engaged, at great expense, the celebrated American Tragedian

MR. E. FORREST,

Who will have the honor of appearing before them at an early period, of which due notice will be given. Negotiations have already been entered into with the most distinguished Performers of the American Stage, who will appear in rapid succession—among others,

MR. & MRS. HILSON,
MISS CLARA FISHER,
MRS. KNIGHT,
MR. J. R. SCOTT,

Also, Mr. PARSLOE, of the Theatre, Covent Garden, London, &c. &c. &c.

In making these arrangements, the subscriber has used every exertion in his power to render THE THEATRE a place of rational amusement---

"To raise the genius and to mend the heart;
Shew Virtue her own features;
Vice her own image;
The age and body of the time, his form and pressure."

And he throws himself confidently on the liberality of the citizens of Pittsburgh for support.

PERIODICALS.

AMERICAN RAILROAD JOURNAL, and Advocate of Internal Improvements, which is designed as a repository of the accounts of the rise and progress of numerous works of Internal Improvement, in the United States particularly, and in other parts of the world generally. The work is published weekly, and forms a large octavo volume each year, of 832 pages of 3 columns each, for $3 per annum, in advance.

New York Farmer, and American Gardener's Magazine. This work is designed for the agriculturist, and will be found to contain much, both interesting and profitable, to those who cultivate the soil as a business, or merely a garden for amusement. Published in monthly parts of 32 large octavo pages, with three columns each, at $3 per annum, in advance.

Mechanics' Magazine, and Register of Improvements and Inventions. To the Mechanics of the United States---In this populous and enlightened country, almost every description of persons can obtain knowledge and amusement connected with their peculiar pursuits, through the medium of the Journal or Magazine, especially devoted to their interests. The Theologian, the Farmer, the Philosopher, the Sportsman, and even the Plough Boy, has each his Journal, where he can find a record of the passing events of the day, connected with his peculiar avocations and recreations. Hitherto, the Mechanics (who form a large and most important portion of the community) have had no Journal, to which they could turn, with the certainty of finding that information they desire, no periodical of which they could say: 'This is ours, and for us.' In the hope that the attempt to supply such a want at a price so reasonable as to be within the reach of all, will meet with your active support, the subscriber proposes to publish, on the first day of each month, a Mechanics' Magazine. It will contain a well digested selection of the most useful and interesting articles in the London Mechanics' Magazine, London Register of Arts and Sciences, Repertory of Inventions, Library of Useful Knowledge, Journal of the Franklin Institute, and other works, connected with the arts and manufactures, published in this country and in Europe, accompanied with numerous and well executed Engravings. Its pages will be open for the communications of all, and especially for those of the practical artisan, to whose interest it will be particularly devoted. The Mechanics' Magazine will contain, also, a due portion of the occurrences of the month, Scientific and Literary Reviews of Books, Anecdotes, Economical Receipts, Reports of the state of Mechanics' Institutions, and other Scientific Societies in this state and other countries. To be published monthly. Each succeeding number will contain 64 pages, handsomely printed, and stitched in a neat cover. Six numbers will form a volume, for which an index and title page will be supplied, and also a Portrait of some distinguished Mechanic, as a Frontispiece. Terms, $3 per annum, in advance.

PITTSBURGH.

WILSON & SMITH, from N. York,

RESPECTFULLY inform the citizens of Pittsburgh and the neighboring towns, that they have commenced the manufacture of the above beautiful and elegant article, so much admired and worn throughout Europe, and the principal cities in the United States.

W. & S. beg leave to observe, that, after various experiments, they have at last succeeded in bringing this Hat to the highest state of perfection, and they can assert, with confidence, that in point of color, lightness, elasticity, durability, and general beauty of appearance, they cannot be surpassed by the most expensive Hat that is made. Gentlemen are invited to call and examine them, and judge for themselves.

Wholesale Dealers supplied at the same prices as in the New York markets.

DOCTOR ROBERT'S
☞ WELCH MEDICAMENTUM. ☜

FOR the cure of Dyspepsia, Liver Complaints, Jaundice, Cholic, Fever and Ague, Dysentery, Headach, Loss of Appetite, Flatulence, Hypochondria, Hysterics, Dropsical Complaints, and Heartburn, It also prevents all Bilious disorders, and removes habitual Costiveness, Asthma, Strangury, Gravel, Rheumatism, Gout, and Impurities of the Blood.

A person who uses this Medicamentum will not require the use of the lancet, or any means of the healing art. It restores and revives the animal spirits, invigorates the system, removes nervous tremors, obtunds rheumatic and anthritic pains, and prevents their return. It cleanses the stomach of all morbid humors, which cause indigestion, acidities, headach, and lowness of spirits; cures all bilious disorders, and all cholics of the stomach and bowels, almost immediately; inspires cheerfulness; gives comfort to the dropsical; takes away palpitation of the heart; gives circulation to the blood; restores bloom to the sallow or sickly cheek, and plumpness to the meagre habit; purges without pain, and banishes all cause of fever of every kind. It acts on the stomach, that great reservoir of the human system, a diseased state of which causes all diseases. No alteration in the usual habits of life is required, but the abstaining from distilled ardent spirits.

CERTIFICATE,

From Rev. Derick Lansing, D. D., Pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church in Utica.

Utica, Jan. 6, 1830.

To Dr. Hitchcock.—Dear Sir: I have always been one of the number of those who have placed little confidence in nostrums or specifics, and for this reason, although I saw your advertisement of the Welch Medicamentum, I could not bring my mind to consent to use it. My sufferings, from indigestion, during the past summer, were so severe, as materially to affect my comfort, and my capacity for usefulness. I have reason to thank you, sir, that, on hearing of the state of my health, you kindly sent me your Medicamentum. I have taken it faithfully, and with entire success. I have not been visited with one of those turns of distress, which before were weekly periodical, since I began to take your valuable medicine. Could I receive the same relief which I have hitherto experienced, on condition of taking it for life, I should cheerfully comply with such condition. Your's, very truly, D. C. LANSING.

ANTI-DYSPEPTIC ELIXER.

ONE of the most agreeable and efficacious Medicines ever discovered for the permanent cure of those chronic states of derangement of the stomach, constituting that miserable disease called Dyspepsia.

The basis of this Elixer is vegetables, and perfectly innocent in its operation; it destroys that sour state of the stomach, the instant it is taken, and stops the morbid secretion, by giving strength to the muscular fibre of that important organ, by which means the peristaltic motion of the intestines is increased, and the costiveness obviated; a new action is given to the system, which puts an end to a train of distressing nervous sensations.

Another form of the disease in which the Elixer is admirably calculated to relieve, is the decline of fever, where the stomach will not bear the ordinary strengthening medicines indicated in such cases, it has the surprising effect of giving vigor, and restoring the natural secretions of the body, without increasing the febrile state. Not the least danger is to be apprehended from exposure to cold, while under the use of this medicine, nor will it interrupt necessary employment of the patient a single hour.

☞ A number of cases of cures performed by the Anti-Dyspeptic Elixer in the vicinity of Pittsburgh can be given.

GEO. W. CARPENTER'S
COMPOUND SYRUP OF LIVERWORT,

A SAFE and Valuable Medicine for Coughs, Spitting of Blood, Consumption, and Liver Complaints.

Most of the medicines made use of for the above diseases are of a stimulating nature, composed generally of Resins and Balsams, in alcoholic solutions, which, although sometimes givingt emporary relief, in almost every instance where they are freely used, aggravate the disease, and reduce the strength of the patient.

This article possesses superior advantages over these preparations, its action being of a tonic, invigorating and strengthening nature, thus overcoming the disease by promoting expectoration, and gradually increasing the strength of the patient, and thus, without being attended with any unpleasant effects: it also agrees with the stomach, in a l cases, and is a pleasant medicine to take.

PATENT PLANING MACHINE.—The right to use this valuable machine, invented and patented by William Woodworth, and known as Woodworth's Patent Planing Machine, may be obtained on application to the subscriber for the counties of Allegheny, Butler, Beaver, Washington, Green, Fayette, Somerset, Cambria, Indiana, Jefferson, Clearfield, M'Kean, Warren, Venango, Mercer, Crawford, and Erie, in the State of Pennsylvania. That part of Maryland lying west of the Blue Ridge; all that part of Virginia lying west of the Blue Ridge, except the county of Ohio. The whole of the state of Ohio except the counties of Hamilton, Butler, and Montgomery. The whole of the state of Kentucky, except the counties of Jefferson, Boone, Oldham, Gallatin, and Campbell. The whole of Indiana, except the counties of Floyd, Clark, Jefferson, Dearborn, and Switzerland. The whole of the state of Illinois, and the territory of Michigan. Rights to use the machine in that part of the United States, named above, will be sold by the single county or in larger districts. As it is presumed that no one will purchase without seeing the machine at work, a description of it is deemed unnecessary. Should any person, however, wish to purchase, and find it inconvenient to visit the places where it is in operation, a machine will be furnished, warranted to plane, tongue and groove, and bring to an exact width and thickness, a white pine board of 12 feet long, and of any width from 1 to 14 inches, in one minute and ten seconds, or an oak board of the same dimensions in 2 minutes and 10 seconds. Machines may be seen at work in the cities of New Orleans, Washington, Philadelphia, New York, Boston, and others at the south and east, at Wheeling, Virginia, and at the saw mill of Messrs. Irwin & Herron, in this city.

Persons desiring to purchase will have the certificates of scientific and practical men who have seen it at work, in the different places in which it has been put up, forwarded to them. They give their opinion as to the great value of the invention, state the time they have seen boards dressed by this machine, and describe the quality of the work as compared with that performed by hand labor.

VALUABLE PROPERTY FOR SALE.

THE Subscriber offers for sale the farm on which he lives, in Washington county, on Pigeon creek, one mile south of Williamsport, on the Monongahela river, to which there is a perfectly level road. This farm contains near 400 acres, the greater part of which is first rate land. There is on the premises a Brick Dwelling House, a Merchant mill, in good repair, a new saw mill, a stone still house, 35 by 40 feet; a salt works is also in operation, and worked to advantage; about 150 acres of land cleared and under good fence. There is on the premises three small tenements for the accommodation of families. This tract is well timbered, and abounds with stone coal and springs of water, both of the best quality.

To a person wishing to embark in a manufacturing business, and possessing capital, this would be a very desirable situation, having the advantage of both water power from Pigeon creek, and banks of the very best coal near to the works, and easy of access, and its vicinity to so navigable a river, where articles of any kind are so cheaply transported to Pittsburgh.

For further particulars, apply to James P. Stuart, Merchant, Wood street, Pittsburgh, or to the subscriber on the premises.

TYPE FOUNDRY.

HAVING purchased of Mr. Richard Ronaldson, his long established and very extensive Type Foundry, the subscribers have formed a co-partnership for the purpose of continuing said business, and for the convenience of their friends and patrons, have removed their establishment to a more central part of the city. As it is their intention to keep on hand a good assortment of the best type, and to make such additions and improvements as the taste of the trade and the wants of the country require, they flatter themselves that this establishment will merit a large share of patronage. They have now several founts on hand, which can be furnished at a few hours' notice, and are prepared to make founts of all weights and sizes, from Pearl to 22 lines Pica, including a variety of Ornamental Letter. Their assortment of Cuts, Dashes, Brass Rule, and other Ornaments, will be found to be very extensive, of which specimens will be forwarded to Printers as soon as they can be prepared.

Printing Presses of every description, Printing Ink of the most approved qualities, Composing Sticks, Brass and Common Galleys, Chases, Imposing Stones, Cases, Paper and Press Boards, Standing Presses, Furniture, together with a complete assortment of all articles used in a Printing Office, will be kept constantly on hand.

Small founts, suitable for Book Binders, in great variety, may be had when called for.

Orders from all parts in the Union will be promptly and most carefully attended to, and particularly in supplying sorts for all founts furnished by their predecessors, Binny & Ronaldson, and Richard Ronaldson.
